Regina Order Picker License

Regina Order Picker License - Order preparation operation or order picking as it is more commonly known is a method utilized within warehouse operations and comprises workers referred to as order pickers. The order picker's job is to take and collect articles in specific quantities so as to accomplish the client's orders prior to shipment. Order picking is an easy warehousing process. The efficiency in which this task is completed could be directly linked to a supply chain's productivity. Hence, order picking is amongst the most controlled logistic methods. Order picking falls within the category of the warehouse management system.

There are some certain types of order picking. The main types include: wave picking method, pick to box method, piece picking or picker to part method, sorting systems method and zone picking method.

The pick to box method involves the order picker only filling the boxes with item which are from their specific station. The box then moves on to other stations to until the order is finish. In this method, there is no movement of the order picker workers. In the wave picking method, the order pickers move around to gather the needed products for several orders. The picker to part method or piece picking is similar where the order picker or pickers move in order to collect the items required but for one order only.

There is no movement by the order picker in the sorting systems method. Rather, products are delivered to the orderpicker by an automatic system like an automatic storage system or a conveyor system. In the zone picking method, every order picker is assigned to one specific zone. They are responsible for only realizing order picking within this specified area.
